

Odd Fellows' Meet.—Last week Thursday evening a large delegation from Caledonia lodge of Odd Fellows attended the district meeting at West Burke. The initiatory degree was exemplified by Caledonia lodge and an address was given by Rev. W. C. Johnson of Lyndon. A banquet was served and a most enjoyable evening spent. Odd Fellows' held day, which has been held on the fair grounds here for the past three years, was made a permanent institution by electing O. H. Henderson of St. Johnsbury president, a vice president from each lodge in the district, secretary, W. E. Stevens of Lyndonville, treasurer, G. W. Knight of Barnet. The St. Johnsbury lodge was the first to hold a field day. Now every district in the state has adopted the custom and it is spreading throughout the country.

Whist and Billiards.—The seventh evening in the whist and billiard contest was played in the Mystic club room Wednesday evening. Mystic came out ahead this time with a lead of 63 points on billiards and 19 on whist. In billiards Hastings, Mystic, had 100, Quimby, Lyndon, 66, Simonds, Mystic, 100, Dodge, Lyndon, 71. In whist Mystic had 478 points, Lyndon 450.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.—The regular meeting of the board of directors will take place next Tuesday evening.

Next Sunday the association will have another out-of-town speaker, H. O. Aiken of Hanover, N. H., who is general secretary of the Dartmouth college Y. M. C. A. He is a graduate of Dartmouth, a bright young man, an interesting speaker, and is doing excellent work in his home field. All young men are cordially invited to attend the service Sunday afternoon.

The next and last entertainment in the lecture course will be given by the Kellogg Bird Carnival and Concert company on Thursday, March 18.

The "Yokelows' Club" of the association meets every Wednesday evening at 6.30 for Bible study, led by the general secretary. Any young men who may be interested are cordially invited to attend.

A number of amateur photographers met last evening in the association parlors and took preliminary steps toward the formation of a Camera club.

General Howard in St. Johnsbury.—Gen. O. O. Howard of Burlington spent Sunday in town by invitation of the Young Men's Christian association. In the afternoon he spoke at the association hall which was filled by members and friends who desired to hear the veteran general. He took as his subject the "Power of Small Things," drawn from the scripture "A little leaven leaveneth the whole lump." Many of his illustrations were taken from his own experiences from childhood onward to the present, showing the importance of the little things as influencing life. In the evening Gen. Howard addressed a still larger audience at the union service held in the North church. He said he was not a minister and could not preach a sermon but wanted to talk a little about the "great loving-kindness of our Heavenly Father." He recalled many incidents which came under his own notice and experience while in the war, of the love of fathers and mothers for their sons and how much they did for them because of this loving-kindness; and then compared this with the loving-kindness of our Heavenly Father, how much greater that was and how far-reaching. At the close he made a brief appeal for aid for the Home missionary society of which he is president, in response to which a collection was taken.

Dr. Hazen's Address.—At the recent celebration of Washington's birthday at Smith college, Northampton, Mass., Dr. Charles D. Hazen of this town and head of the history department of the college, delivered an interesting as well as instructive address, the subject being "Some ideals of American democracy." Dr. Hazen first spoke of the events of the six years after the treaty of Paris, describing the great difficulties attending the formation and adoption of the constitution. It is a matter for wonder and thankfulness that congress succeeded in carrying through a scheme of union. It was to the personal influence of men like Washington that this success is due. He quoted passages referring to Washington from eminent British and continental statesmen and historians, all of which tended to show the practical sagacity and wisdom of the American statesman. Dr. Hazen showed from past history that, while as a rule lofty ideas had originated with leaders of the more cultivated class, the masses of the people had received those ideas more readily, and had been more ready to act on lofty principles, than had the aristocracy. In conclusion, he spoke of the present situation, and, while admitting that as yet democracy had failed to settle certain questions, such as that of municipal government, the outlook for the future, taking into consideration the accomplishments of the past, is decidedly hopeful.

RECENT DEATHS.

Stanton.
Fred Stanton, who was kicked in the forehead by a colt last week Thursday, died about noon Saturday. The skull was badly fractured, the doctors removing from it considerable bone. All was done for the injured man that was possible, but the doctors' skill was of no avail and he passed away about forty-eight hours after the accident.

Mr. Stanton was born and spent much of his life in North Danville. He was about 56 years old.

He was a veteran of the late war serving in Co. K, 15th Vermont Volunteers. Mr. Stanton was twice married, his first wife being Susan, daughter of the late Aaron Smith of North Danville, who died several years ago. Last September he married Mrs. Alice Morse of this town and has since lived here. Besides a widow and an aged mother, Mrs. Jacob Stanton, he leaves a brother, H. W. Stanton of North Danville, two sisters, Mrs. Calista Roberts of St. Johnsbury and Mrs. O. N. Drew of North Danville, and a daughter, Mrs. G. H. Harris of St. Johnsbury and a large number of friends. The family have the sympathy of all in their sudden bereavement. It is the second son the mother has lost by the kick of a horse. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Thomas Tyrie officiating. The burial was at the North Danville cemetery. The month of February has brought to Mrs. Stanton much sorrow, her first husband and three sons having also died in that month.

Brown.

Patrick A. Brown, for many years a shoemaker in this town, died in his shop in the basement of Bailey's block, about half-past four Monday afternoon. For some time he hadn't felt well and Monday was his first visit to the shop for about two weeks. The same day he went down to Belnap's shop to have some knives ground and also went over the shoe factory. About half-past four he went into John Bernier's barber shop, said he wasn't feeling well and wanted some stimulants. In leaving Bernier's shop he slipped on some ice and fell, but got up and walked into his shoe shop all right, when he dropped to the floor and died in a few seconds. Mr. Brown's home was in East St. Johnsbury. He leaves a wife and ten children. Before the Avenue House fire he had a shop in connection with C. H. Bagley's shoe store and has since been in Bailey's block. He was 74 years old. His funeral was held Wednesday morning in the Catholic church.

Durloo.

Mrs. Durloo, who came here from Boston, Mass., about a month ago to attend the funeral of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lewin, died Friday night. A few days after arriving here she was taken sick with pneumonia, the result of a sudden cold taken while traveling. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at the residence of Henry Lewin, Rev. Thomas Tyrie officiating. Mrs. Durloo was 64 years old.

Church News.—A series of interesting meetings are being conducted at the Advent Christian church in Paddock village by Rev. John Jeffrey, evangelist, lecturer and pastor of Littleton, N. H. Services have been held and will continue to be held every evening, except Saturday, as long as the interest may demand. The co-operation of all Christians for the salvation of the perishing is solicited. Time of service, 7.30 o'clock.

The 100th anniversary of the birth of Mary Lyon, the founder of Mt. Holyoke college, will be observed next Sunday, the 28th, at the North church. The pastor, Dr. A. H. Heath, will preach a sermon appropriate to the occasion at the morning service, when contributions will be solicited for replacing the college buildings recently destroyed by fire.

The Home Missionary society of the South church held a meeting with Mrs. W. L. Russell in Summerville yesterday afternoon. About 25 ladies enjoyed the ride over in a barge and the meeting was interesting. It was a sort of farewell visit prior to Mrs. Russell's moving to Miles Pond.

The Railroad street Baptist church pulpit will be supplied next Sunday by Rev. Mr. Potter of Windsor.

Next Monday and Tuesday evening the sisters of Notre Dame will serve supper in the Parochial hall. Everybody is invited.

At the Universalist church next Sunday the pastor will preach upon the theme, "Our Masters." Young People's Christian Union meeting in the evening, led by Mrs. Nugent. Subject, "Think on These Things."

The members of the South church congregation enjoyed a pleasant reception at Prof. D. Y. Comstock's Tuesday evening. A good number were present.

Globe Teacher's Contest Ended.

The winners in the Boston Globe popular teacher's contest were announced Tuesday, it taking several days to count the votes after the time was up. All day Friday there was a perfect flood of votes. They came in letters, packages, boxes, barrels and one dry goods box was sent in with 130,000 votes. It was the most interesting newspaper contest of the kind ever conducted in New England. The total number of votes cast was 7,116,637, the highest individual vote being 290,856, received by the Boston leader, Vermont contributed 489,366 votes. We give below the final five leaders in Vermont, the first three of whom will enjoy the trip to McKinley's inauguration at the Globe's expense:

Mabel L. Brock, Barnet, 82,104; Alice M. Wing, Swanton, 80,457; Margaret T. Reagan, White River Junction, 66,268; Edith Boyce, Spaulding, Barr, 64,166; Walter E. Ranger, normal, Johnston, 49,912. Many in this section did a little work for Miss Brock and are greatly pleased with the result. The following short sketch is taken from the Globe:

Miss Mabel Brock of Barnet, Vt., whose name heads the list of successful teachers in her state, was born in Barnet and received her early education in the common schools of the town, then taking a four years' course at St. Johnsbury academy, whence she graduated with honor in 1895.

She has served over two years as teacher in her own town. At present she is in the midst of the winter term, having the usual mixed school of a country village, with 50 scholars, ranging in years from 8 to 16, and she rules them all, big and little, by the rod of love rather than that of fear.

That she is beloved by her scholars and endeared to all who know her is shown by her splendid vote.

Letters to St. Johnsbury People.

Mrs. HOOKER, St. Johnsbury, Vt.

Madam:—By giving any thought at all to the cost of soap you are likely to miss the larger share of the benefit of it.

Buy the highest priced soap you can buy and that will be the cheapest in the end.

(1) You'll use less of it.

(2) It won't rot the clothes.

Those are the two reasons why a mild soap like Harmless is cheaper at 8c than it would be at 4c, or 6c.

Yours truly,

C. H. Post & Co.,

Newburgh, N. Y.

Literary Notes.

THE FORUM for March contains a dozen timely and important articles, among them the Arbitration Treaty is discussed by two competent authorities—the Hon. Frederic R. Coudert, the eminent international lawyer and ex-member of the Behring Sea arbitration commission, and Theodore S. Woolsey, professor of international law at Yale. Each has a few criticisms to make, but both agree in declaring the treaty to be a considerable step toward a better order of things. Apropos to the recent report of the comptroller of the state of New York in which he advances some rather startling theories of taxation, the Hon. Perry Belmont, the well-known politician and millionaire, criticizes Mr. Belmont's views in a paper entitled "Taxation: Its Sum, Justification and Methods." Mr. William Allen White, editor of the Emporia (Kans.) "Gazette," whose recent article, "What's the Matter with Kansas?" attracted such wide attention, contributes a striking paper on "The Present and Future of Kansas." Mr. James Schouler, the eminent constitutional lawyer and historian, reviews those of Mr. Cleveland's administrative acts which have provoked the criticism that he has arrogantly and illegally stretched his constitutional powers, discussing in particular the question as to his right to recognize belligerency.

GODEY'S MAGAZINE for March is notable for the variety of its topics and the versatility of its general make-up. The leading article on "Pastime Photography" shows what pleasing work can be done by a skillful use of the camera and living models. It is fully illustrated with quaint and pretty pictures. Following this is "Modern Art in Piano Building," illustrated with pictures of the most beautiful instruments of recent make. These pictures will surprise many people. "Dresden Opera" receives treatment, with illustrations, and will interest not only musical people but general readers as well. Among the "specials" of timely interest is "Handsome Newspaper Women," with portraits, in which Miss Helen Winslow of the Boston Transcript describes the life and work of several prominent beautiful women of the press. The fashion and woman's departments are full of practical things; and the now finished "Modes and Manners of Seventy Years," by Grace E. Drew gives that completeness to the three issues (January, February and March), which renders them worthy to be kept apart for future use, as among the contributions to general literature which can never be duplicated.

There have appeared in the columns of this paper for several years the advertisements of Ely's Cream Balm, a remedy for catarrh, cold in the head and for hay fever. It is with much pleasure that we can call the particular attention of our readers to the fact that this article stands very high among remedies, and particularly high as a catarrh medicine. Ely Brothers, we are informed, have had long experience as druggists and pharmacists, and a remedy coming from such a source should have the confidence of those desiring a reliable preparation. One fact that should inspire confidence in their catarrh cure (Ely's Cream Balm) is that they are willing to have it put to the test, and in order that every one may try it they are now offering a generous trial size through the druggists, or will mail on receipt of 10 cents. The full size is 50 cents per package. You need not hesitate to send to them for the remedy. Their address is 56 Warren street, New York City.

Household Hints.

The proper cleaning of a carpeted room demands first, that if possible all draperies and hangings shall be shipped from their fastenings, brushed, aired and laid aside out of the dust; such as are not removable may be shaken lightly as they hang, folded lengthwise then in upturned folds as far as possible, and finally pinned high in pieces of muslin kept for the purpose. Pictures are to be brushed on their faces with a soft brush, their backs wiped and brushed, and they too folded in muslin, the ends tucked in around their frames. Upholstered furniture must be brushed out carefully and covered with similar cloths, all small pieces set out of the room. Bric-a-brac is dusted and also put aside in a protected place. A stiff whisk takes the dust out of the corners of the room, and then the carpet is sprinkled with crumpled pieces of newspaper, wet but not dripping, and swept with the nap. After this first sweeping the corners and door-lintels are brushed free from dust, the walls are dusted down with a cloth wound round the broom or a special brush, and the baseboard is brushed clean with a rather stiff hair brush. The dust thus dislodged is gathered by means of a second going over with a carpet sweeper, and finally the carpet is polished by being wiped over with a cloth wrung out as dry as possible from clean tepid ammonia-water, two table-spoonsful of ammonia to four quarts of water. Wet paper, is to be preferred to salt or tea leaves; the former cannot be entirely removed, and the grains left absorb moisture, rusting the carpet nails, while tea leaves injure and streak a delicate carpet.

Another suggestion relates to the spilling of alcohol on highly polished wood, an accident which may readily accompany the use of the chafing dish or the curling-tongs at a dressing-table. In the case of the former, as the salad-oil is apt to be within quick reach, it is to be at once applied. In the other case the alcohol may be wiped up while the oil is being brought, taking care not to spread the spot; afterward apply paraffine oil and turpentine mixed in equal proportions to restore the finish. The first and quick application of oil is to arrest the action of the alcohol, which eats through the veneer with great rapidity.

Franklin's advice, "Never buy a thing because it is cheap," would have been qualified if he had lived in the days of midwinter sales. The shops at the moment show many desirable bargains, and the needs of a family are so persistent and continuous that it is good judgment to forestall them when 50 or 75 per cent may be saved by so doing. Many economical mothers buy heavy winter flannels for their children's use another year now that they are offered at greatly reduced prices. Winter jackets and coats, too, for both girls and boys, are to be had in early February at prices that are half of those asked in November.

The secret of smooth ice cream, which the experimenting housekeeper will do well to remember, is that it shall be frozen slowly. Five and ten-minute freezers are freely advertised, but, fortunately for the success of the dessert, they do not accomplish the work in any such short time. If they did the texture of the cream would not be perfect. The crank of the freezer should be slowly turned, and half an hour, certainly 20 minutes, is none too long to manipulate it. If the cream is heated before it is added to the rest of the mixture, taking care that it is not scalded, the smoothness and richness of the final result will be increased. After heating the cream the whole must of course be thoroughly chilled before freezing—this to save ice and also to prevent granulation.

Not a few people are annoyed by a tendency of the nails to split and break easily. I was advised to try oleate of tin for the trouble, and found its application an effectual remedy. I also discovered that it would speedily heal those painful little cracks in the flesh of the finger ends, that afflict many in frosty weather.

Official Salaries in Europe.

The royal family of England costs the British government, in round numbers, $3,000,000 annually. Of this sum the queen receives nearly $2,000,000 a year, besides the revenues from the duchy of Lancaster, which amount to a quarter of a million.

The Lord Lieutenant of Ireland receives $100,000 a year for his services and expenses, and the Prince of Wales $200,000 a year.

The president of France receives $240,000 a year for salary and expenses, an enormous salary, when it is remembered that the republic is sweating under a stupendous national debt of over $6,000,000,000—the largest debt ever incurred by any nation in the world.

Italy can have 10,000 men slaughtered in Abyssinia and still pay her king $2,600,000 a year.

The civil list of the German emperor is about $4,000,000 a year, besides large revenues from vast estates belonging to the royal family.

The Czar of all the Russias owns in fee simple 1,000,000 square miles of cultivated land, and enjoys an income of $12,000,000.

The King of Spain, little Alfonso XIII, if he is of a saving disposition, will be one of the richest sovereigns in Europe when he comes of age. The state at ows him $1,400,000 a year, with an additional $6,000,000 for family expenses.

We are said to be the richest nation on earth, yet our president's salary is only $50,000 a year. It was only $25,000 from 1789 to 1873.—[Information.]
